

"The Chemical Worker's Song (Process Man)"

-----Chorus:-----

And its go boys go They'll time your every breath
And every day in this place your 2 days nearer death
But you go

Well a process man am I and I'm tellin' you no lie
I work n breathe among th'fumes that tread across th'sky
There's thunder all around me and there's poison in th'air
There's a lousy smell that smacks of hell n dust all n me hair

[Chorus]

Well I worked among th'spitters n I breathe the oily smoke
& shovelled up the gypsum and it neigh on makes you choke
I've stood knee deep cyanide, got sick with a caustic burn
Been working rough, I've seen enough, to make your stomach turn

[Chorus]

There's overtime and bonus opportunities galore
Th'young men like their money n they all come back fr more
But soon your knocking on and you look older than y'should
For every bob made on the job, you pay with flesh n' blood

[Chorus]

Well a process man am I and I'm tellin' you no lie
I work n breathe among th'fumes that tread across th'sky
There's thunder all around me and there's poison in th'air
There's a lousy smell that smacks of hell n dust all n me hair

[Chorus 2x]

TORN SCREEN DOOR

Late summer day and my Love and I went walking
Over hills and fields we walked, laughing and talking

Came across an old farmhouse Standing broken and bare
It used to be someone's home Now no one lives there.

There's a red barn standing Held together with nails & dust
And a tired old Massey Harris All wires and rust

Weeds overgrown in a garden sown with care
It used to be someone's home Now no one lives there

And through the crack In the window pane
I hear the sound Of the falling rain
Another farm being left run down
Another family moved into town

Had a life that they tried to save
But the banks took it all away
Hung a sign on a torn screen door
Nobody lives here no more

They worked their fingers
To the bone
Nothing left
They can call their own
Packed it in under leaden skies
With just the wheat
Waving them goodbye

Had a life that they tried to save
But the banks took it all away
Hung a sign on a torn screen door
Nobody lives here no more